Hello and thank you for the opportunity to provide input into the review of PC fees.

Can the fees for PC with Trust please take into account whether a trust account is operated, such that there be a lower fee for PC with Trust but without a trust account?

I hold a PC with authority to operate a trust account only so I can handle transit cheques. I do not operate a trust account and therefore risk is lower than if I did operate a trust account. As a relatively low volume sole practitioner practice, every outgoing expense matters, and it already costs a lot to be able to practice.
